About me

I'm Patricia Judez, a versatile and proactive designer with a strong problem-solving mindset. I'm always looking for new challenges and opportunities to grow professionally.

Currently, I work at a neuroscience company, collaborating with the marketing team and supporting the UX/UI team across different projects. At the same time, I work as a freelance designer for Ibercaja, one of the largest and most established companies in Aragón, creating corporate materials and visual assets that strengthen their brand identity.

I'm looking to further develop my freelance career by collaborating with new companies and taking on new creative challenges.
